The rescue card Air-Glaciers will protect you from all aerial and ambulance transportation costs in case of emergency for the event that these costs are not covered by health insurances or any other insurance companies who are bound to cover it partly or completely. These financial advantages are not of a contractual nature and could not thus be regarded as insurance indemnities.

Air-Glaciers provides its services of assistance out of any legal obligation. It achieves them as far as its personnel resources, or his technical capabilities and the means available.

Air-Glaciers decides the execution of its missions according to medical, social and operational criteria. It decides how and when it will achieve a mission. The expenses of the interventions organized without the prior agreement of Air-Glaciers are not dealt with.

Air-Glaciers decides of the best way and moment of intervention and may delegate to its partners the achievement of a mission.

Since 1965 Air-Glaciers offers around-the-clock, helicopter rescue within Switzerland and worldwide aero-medical evacuations to those who have come to harm in the wrong place at the wrong time. The rescue operations are subject to medical, social and operational criterions.

As Air-Glaciers is not an insurer but an aerial medical rescue company, services are only due in the measure of its personal and technical possibilities.
